Virginia.

The largest Continental district is in northern Virginia, where the company has about 90,000 or 36 per cent of its telephones. The northern district includes Prince William and parts of Loudoun, Fairfax, Stafford, Fauquier, Orange and Spotsylvania.

The company has 54,000 telephones, 21 per cent of its total in the Northern Neck, including all or parts of Caroline, Essex, Gloucester, Hanover, King and Queen, King George, King William, Lancaster, Mathews, Middlesex, New Kent, Northumberland, Richmond and Westmoreland.

Southside service is for 59,000 telephones in the Counties of Brunswick, Greensville, Isle of Wright, Southampton, Surry and the Cities of Emporia and Franklin plus parts of Mecklenburg, Lunenburg, Charlotte, Dinwiddie and Prince George Counties and part of the Cities of Suffolk and Virginia Beach.

In the western area the company serves 50,000 telephones in the Counties of Rockingham, Craig and parts of Rockbridge, Amherst, Appomattox, Augusta, Buckingham, Campbell, Montgomery, Nelson Shenandoah, Page, Prince Edward, Giles and the City of Harrisonburg.

The SCC's separate service order called for better company reporting of trouble experienced by subscribers, special attention to the difference in calling area available to Lorton citizens compared with the remainder of Fairfax County and monthly reports to the SCC on repeated trouble reports.

"The company shall implement procedures to minimize the occurrence of repeated trouble reports," the Commission said. Moreover, the SCC staff shall continue to investigate, observe and appraise the quality of service rendered by the company. Any unreasonable delays in implementing plans for improved service are to be reported by SCC staff engineers.

By Dec. 31, the SCC staff is required to submit a report on the company's implementation of the service order and service conditions on the Continental system at that time "with special attention to improvements or changes..."

Under the Commission order $1.8 million of the $4.8 million new revenue will come from business phone subscribers, about what the company had requested, and nearly $2.3 million from residential subscribers, about half the amount the company sought from this part of its business.
